Proctoring Information for Schools

Dear School,

It is important to us that you know exactly how we proctor exams at the Burlington Public Library. Below are our proctoring guidelines:

The librarian will check the student's ID and hand student an exam or log into a computer to access an exam. We will make sure that the student has only the materials he/she is allowed, such as sheet of notes, calculator, etc. Any other items will be stored away from the test taking area. Students are typically near the librarian, within eyesight, as they take their exams. The librarian will time the exam and will walk by the student every 15-20 minutes to make sure they are not looking at notes or other websites. The Burlington Library is a busy public library and we are unable to closely monitor the student during the entire exam.

If this scenario is agreeable, we are happy to proctor your student.

All exams and communication should be directed to ill@burlingtonpl.org. It is easier for us, and for your students, if any of the three Reference Librarians employed at the Library is able to proctor your student's exams. If only one proctor is designated, your student will only be able to schedule an exam during that librarian's shift. We are Justin Acosta, Shelley Sloboder and Aren Briggs.

Before we proctor an exam for your student, we must hear back from you saying that you agree to our proctoring method.

Sincerely,

Justin Acosta
